WEEKLY NEWSLETTER

Dear Parents

The weather this week has finally warmed up and we are looking forward to trying out our new trim trail. Please do take a look at the website - the Gallery page - for some photos.

As a link to our assembly series this term, the children have been introduced to two new characters - Stevie Stay-Safe and Stella Stand-up. These puppets join us for assembly on Monday and teach us about different aspects of staying safe each week. Do ask your child what they have learnt. On that theme, after many meetings, I have finally heard that Surrey Highways have agreed to paint dotted lines across both entrances to the Honda Garage. I have always been very conscious of how fast the traffic goes through the village and at both these points it is very unclear for a child where the pavement ends and the road starts. Hopefully the white lines will make this a little clearer. I do see this as a first step and I continue to liaise with Surrey Highways to see how we can work towards making the roads around school much safer for our children.

As with all weeks, I am in and out of the classrooms, sometimes teaching or sometimes seeing how the children are learning. It was an utter delight this week being in every single class and seeing all our children on task and clearly motivated, whether it was solving missing number problems in maths, planning exciting stories or re-designing Noah's Ark! Well done St John's learners!

Have a lovely, warm weekend!

With best wishes
Ginnie
